MEDICINAL.

Narrow Chests

The old theory that consumption is inherited is utterly disproved by modern medical science. The germs of consumption must be received from without. These germs are everywhere. They are constantly being received and cast out by the healthy system. It is the narrow chested whose inheritance is weakness who fall a prey to consumption because they are too weak of lung to resist and throw off disease.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, weakness, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

In the spring of 1901 I was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and became very weak and short of breath, lost flesh and had no appetite," writes Mr. E. L. Roberts of Kansas City. "I was persuaded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first few bottles seemed to do me but little good. I thought I would soon be a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption, of which several of my family died. Had almost given up in despair when my friends persuaded me to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' a fair trial. I commenced its use again and in a short time was feeling better. I continued its use until I had taken sixteen bottles. I weigh 160 pounds now, and when I commenced I only weighed 120 pounds. If any one doubts this statement I will be pleased to answer any inquiry."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing just as good." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

WOMAN TO BE HANGED.

Mrs. Kate Taylor was yesterday morning found guilty of murder in the first degree in Monticello, N. Y., for causing the death of her husband. She was sentenced to death and her execution fixed for the week of July 5. The jury, which had been out since Friday afternoon, announced at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, just 19 hours after they retired, that they had reached a verdict. After being taken back to her cell Mrs. Taylor devoted the greater part of her time to prayer. The prisoner, though pale and somewhat agitated, did not lose the remarkable nerve which has been hers since the beginning of the trial. When Sheriff Dycker asked her whether she cared to have her supper as usual, she replied: "Yes, indeed. I want you to bring me all you can, for I need all the strength I can muster in order to stand this awful strain." Mrs. Taylor was arrested and lodged in jail at Monticello on February 8, charged with having killed her husband on Tuesday, January 27, by shooting him in the back with a revolver. According to the confession of her 16-year-old daughter, Ida May Taylor, the woman afterward dismembered the body and put it in the cook stove. It was said that afterward she threw the charred bones into the chicken yard. Two weeks afterward the disappearance of Taylor began to excite comment. Mrs. Taylor told neighbors that her husband had gone over the mountains on business. When trying to make a deal with Peter Yerkins, her uncle, Mrs. Taylor was forced into a confession that she had killed her husband and burned the body.

INTRUDER SHOT.—Albert H. Hodgkiss, a prominent resident of the Wheeling, W. Va., was shot dead at 3 o'clock yesterday morning in the home of engineer Charles Klieves, of Mozart Park Incline. Klieves heard a noise in his dining hall, and procuring a double-barrel shot gun made an investigation. Just as Hodgkiss entered the door Klieves fired. The intruder fell with a groan out of a side window, and died within a few seconds, the charge of shot having torn away a great part of his body over the heart. For some time the body was unidentified, but a receipt from a furniture house for $200 worth of furniture, led to the discovery that the man who was armed with a pistol and carried a bottle of chloroform, was Hodgkiss. Hodgkiss was one of the best-known families of Wheeling and very married. He was faultlessly dressed. His aged father, who is in the City Hospital recovering from an operation for partial blindness, is almost heartbroken, and none of the family are able to state why Hodgkiss should have taken to the step which caused his death. The engineer's house stands at the top of the hill above the city. Its isolation, and the fact that Klieves had a large sum of money in the house, it is thought, tempted Hodgkiss. The killing, a coroner's jury has determined, was entirely justifiable, and no penalty will be imposed on Klieves.

ANOTHER STRIKE.—The general strike of the textile workers of Philadelphia for a reduction in working time from sixty to fifty-five hours a week was to have gone into effect today, and the leaders of the textile unions claim that fully 100,000 persons will refuse to go to work unless their demands are agreed to. The executive committee on the textile trades have issued a statement to the public giving the reasons for the strike. The statement says that thirty-five trades, representing 90,000 persons, ask for a fifty-five-hour week, with a proportionate reduction in wages, and three trades, representing 10,000 workers, ask for the shorter week with the same wages as paid at present, or a slight increase, averaging 10 per cent. The statement declares that women and children are principally affected by the long hours in the mills.

TRAIN PLUNGED INTO SEA.—A Southern Pacific passenger train was derailed at a point about a mile south of Rincon, Cal., Saturday night. Four cars plunged down an embankment 40 feet high, two of them being partly submerged in the sea. About 40 people were injured, some of them seriously. Many sustained broken bones and were badly bruised. A woman, whose name was given as Mrs. J. C. Smith, had both arms crushed so badly that they will have to be amputated at the shoulder. It is a matter of the greatest surprise that none were killed, as many people were fastened beneath the wreckage. It is not known just what caused the wreck. It is believed, however, that the rails spread as the engine was passing over them.

GIRL LEAPED FROM SPIRE.—The town of Rouen, France, boasts of one of the most terrible tragedies in France's recent history. About 7 o'clock one evening, when the streets were alive with people, a dark object was observed hurtling through the air from the great spire of the Gothic Cathedral. Almost before the terrified onlookers had realized that it was a human body, and that of a young woman, it had reached the earth and was literally dashed to pieces. Who the suicide was is still a mystery.

THREAT OF REVOLUTIONISTS.—The Sofia correspondent of the London Daily News says he learns that the revolutionary leaders in Bulgaria have obtained a quantity of Indian plague bacilli and are determined that unless the powers interfere in their behalf to infect Constantinople, Salonici, and even Berlin. A dispatch from Salonici says that Turkish troops are besieging an insurgent band which occupies an island in Lake Amatova. The besiegers have vainly tried to burn out the insurgents with petroleum.

EULALIE IN PARIS.—Infanta Eulalie, who was shocked to the point of fainting when she learned in Chicago that the hotelkeeper Potter Palmer was identical with the Pottier Palmer who had invited her to a ball at his great residence, has seemingly got over her aristocratic reserve, for she may be seen driving in company with a jockey in the Bois day after day. Her name is coupled with those of several other men of plebeian origin, and all together, her royal highness is acquiring the same kind of reputation that once attached to her great-aunt, Queen Isabella. It is said that the Pope's refusal to listen to Eulalie's prayer for divorce was directly due to her various escapades.

Asked whether it was true or not that the former Queen Regent had forbidden her to reside in Spain, Eulalie is said to have replied: "Maybe Christina wants to have one witness less of her carryings on with her master of horse."
